GOV. FOR AKER RENOMINATED JOHN SHERMAN ENDORSED WITHOUT

A DISSENTING FOICE. The Blaine Forces Called Off by Telegrams from Congressmen Millikes and Boutello Shorman Talks About the Resolution.

Tolepo, July 28 .- The Convention is over, and Sherman has been endorsed without a single dissenting voice on the floor of the Convention. The question is, How was this brought about? At midnight a ballot was taken in the Committee on Resolutions, and the vote stood 17 to 3 in favor of the resolution McKinley not voting. After that hour there was a sudden change. Charles Grosvenor, Sherman's lieutenant, made a speech. saying that Sherman would in his speech to-day say that he would consider the resolution in the nature of a compliment only, and that it would bind no one. This mollified the Blaine men in a degree, but not until telegrams were received from Congressmen Milliken and Boutelle of Maine calling off the Blaine forces did they entirely cease their opposiion. The telegram said that as the resolution was to be incorporated in the platform is would be unwise to oppose it on the floor of the Convention after it had passed the committee. This was why the Blaine men greeted the resolution with grim silence when it came up for adoption. They sat with set teeth and did not vote. There were over 200 of them, and they did not join in the wild acclaim which followed the announcement of Sherman's name. That there was no opposisherman's name. That there was no opposi-tion to the resolution was the first surprise of the Convention, and those not on the inside are still wondering why Gen. Asa Jones and Judge Lewis sat passive while Sher-man was being endorsed. The endorse-ment means practically nothing. It cannot bind a single delegate to Chicago, and Sherman recognized this when in his speech he said:

ment means practically nothing. It cannot bind a single delegate to Chicago, and Sherman recognized this when in his speech he said:

I know, as a matter of course, that this resolution is of chipotranee unless the voters of the districts of the state of this and of the United States should, in their rescholes, elect delegates who will agree with you in your opiatos. I recognize the district rule and the right of every district to speak its own voice. I stood by that rule in 1880, when I knew its adoption would cut out all hopes of my friends at that time. I also knew that there was another rule, that no man ought to be held as a candidate for that high office unless he has the substantially unaulmous voice of his party friends behind him. I believe that that is a true rule, and it ought to be exercised to promote harmony and good will and friendship among Republicans.

That sums up the situation in a few words. The resolution is of no importance. The elements of antagonism developed strength surprising to Sherman and absolutely astonishing to the country at large. Former antagonisms are a matter of political history, but there was reason to believe that Senator Sherman more than regained his lost prestige and that he was the one towering popular Republican in Ohio. Three months ago indications pointed to more than unamimity—enthusiasm expressed the feeling toward Mr. Sherman, His fences were in splendid repair, but now that has all changed. If he had remained passive this year as far as his own canvass was concerned, he would have posed before the country as a most formidable Presidential candidate. Other States, at least, would have had no knowledge of trouble at home. But Sherman's ambition overleaped itself, and led him to desire a State endorsement. He has had it, but at the expense of an enormous advertisement that he is not the choice of Ohio Republicans for the Presidency, without which he can never hope to be the nominee of his party.

Gov. Forsker was master of the situation, and by the simple turn of sentiment on this question, to the sad that the evils resulting from the traffic in insociating liquors be restained to the utmost possible extent in all parts of the state.

The last resolution was the Sherman endorsement, and when it was reached the Convention broke out into a cheer. Before the reading was finished a delegate called for three cheers for Sherman, which were given with a will. When the endorsement of Gov. Foraker's Administration was reached the Convention cheered as one man, many rising to their feet and swinging their hats. The robel-flag clause revived the demonstration.

A motion was made to adopt the whole platform by acclamation. It was done unanimously, without a dissenting vote. Tremendous cheering followed, and loud calls were made for Sherman, but he did not appear.

The roport of the Committee on Formanent Organization, naming John Sherman for permanent Chairman, was then read and adopted, and a committee was appointed to conduct Mr. Sherman to the chair. The Convention was in good humor, being jubliant over the extinction of the opposition to the endorsement resolution, and cheered Senator Sherman to the echo as he took the platform. His speech was listened to with the closest attention, the thanked the Convention for the honor of presiding, and congratulated the members upon the encouraging prospects for Republicanism in the States and nation. He eulogized Foraker, and declared that he deserves both his popularity and his renomination, as he has fairly carned both. He said: "More than that; he has prevented a Democratic President from surrendering to the Confederates the flags and banners they lost in the rebuiltion." He reviewed the work of the late Republican. Legislature and commended it highly, and then discussed State questions at some length. He commended the platform for fair Congressional elections. The Senator closed by thanking in a most heartfeit manner, the Convention for the unanimous endorsement of him. He said: "I know this is a master of sentiment. I know that this stration of applause, especially his disclaimer that the endorsement resolution had any binding effect upon the district conventions next year. He received a tremendous round of cheers at the close.

Dr. Graydon of Cincinnati then took the platform and nominated Gov. Foraker for his second term in a ten-minute speech. There was much cheering, and the motion was carried by acciamation amid a whiriwind of cheers.

A committee was appointed to escort Forsker to the hall, and the nomination for Liaterant-Governor was proceeded with. The Hon. Ass Bushnell of Springfield was named, but declined because of important business interests which would suffer. Senator Thomas J. Pringle of Springfield and Capt. W. C. Lyon of Newark were then placed in nomination. Capt. Lyon was chosen on the second ballot. At this moment Gov. Foraker was escorted to the platform, amid cheers. He secepted the nomination for Governor, and made a brief speech, in which he replied to some charges against him made by the Democratic platform recently adopted. He reviewed the financial record of the last Democratic Administration, and compared it with Republican management to refute the charge that his administration was unbusinessike. While he was speaking, a sainte of 100 guns was being fired outside in honor of his renomination.

Judge William Spear of Trumbull was then was being fired outside in honor of his renomination.

Judge William Spear of Trumbull was then nominated for Supreme Judge, long term, by acclamation. For the short term, Judge F. B. Dickman, the incumbent, was renominated on the first ballot.

The ticket was completed as follows: State Auditor, E. W. Poe; State Treasurer, J. C. Brown: Attorney-General, D. K. Watson; Member Board Public Works, C. A. Flickinger. The Convention adjourned at 3% o'clock.

The Champion of the Oil Regions No Match | for the New Yorker.

JAMESTOWN, July 28 .- A prize fight occurred early this morning, five miles from this city. One-ounce gloves were used, and Jack Smith, the heavy weight of New York, and W. S. Layton, the champion heavy weight of Bradford, Pa., were the combatants. Smith, aged 22, weighed 164 pounds. He won the amateur middle-weight championship at the New York Athletic Club two years ago. He also whipped Billy Green, and fought a draw with Johnny Fallon for a stake. Layton is the recognized champion of the oil regions. He defeated Reddy Gallagher in fourteen rounds at Cinwhipped Dan Gallagher of Buffalo in eighteen rounds; Joe Thompson of Springfield, Ohio, in four rounds: That Slattery of Dunkirk twice, and George B. Weaver of Jamestown in seven rounds. His age is 22 years, and he weighed 158 pounds. a purse. They entered the ring at 2:30 A. M., and settled the affair with the aid of kerosene a purse. They entered the ring at 2:30 A. M., and settled the affair with the aid of kerosene lamps. Layton was seconded by Ed Cosgan of Hornellsville. Billy Oliver of New York attended to Smith. Tom Bowles of the Shawmut Boating Club of Boston was referee.

In the first round it was evident that Layton was no match for Smith. The latter fought shy of his opponent and allowed him to lead. In response to every attempt of Layton got in a good one on his opponent's chin and Smith was knocked down. Layton repeated the dose after a lapse of ten seconds. When Smith regained his feet he got in an upper cut and Layton went down like a log in Smith's corner.

Smith had everything his own way in the second round. In the third round he felled Layton with a swinging right hander. The fourth round was fairly even. Layton had his lower lip and right ear split, right eye closed and nose broken, and was badly winged, and Smith received an ugly cut on the forehead and left eye. Layton did not take to the punishment kindly, and several times resorted to wrestling tactics. The referee cautioned him. In the fifth round Layton knocked Smith down, and struck him when he was prostrate. Oliver claimed a foul for his man, and it was allowed. The spectators were not satisfied, however, and insisted that the fight go on. Bowles, to prevent a fight, withdrew his decision.

The sixth and last round was a red hot one, blood pouring from the men in streams. Just as the referee was about to call time Smith swung his right. It landed on Layton's jusular, and he went down, knocked completely out. The fight was then given to Smith.

GLOVER KNOCKED OUT.

OLOVER KNOCKED OUT.

HAMMOND, Ind., July 28.—The fight to a finish with skin gloves between Frank Glover and William Bradburn took place last night near Gibson. Ind. Bradburn was in fine condition and weighed 165 pounds. Glover weighed 182, and his more powerful frame showed the results of careful training. The fight was a desperate one. Bradburn was much the eleverer and the better general. Glover kept swinging his right, trying to knock his man out, and not only failed to land but got severely punished in return, especially on the body. From the first Bradburn had the best of it, and he kept continually taunting Glover with remarks of "You can't hit me with a broad axe." I told my friends so before I came in," "You've got no sick boy now."

Bradburn avoided nearly all of Glover's leads by clever ducking, and repeatedly planted his left with telling effect on Glover's stomach. In the second round he cross-countered Glover on the jaw and scored a clean knock down. In the fourth round Glover rallied and by feinting with his left induced Bradburn to duck, and then got home three terrible upper cuts with his right. In the seventh round Glover made his last raily, and with a straight left hander on the mouth and an upper cut dazed Bradburn. In the inth round, after they had been

AN IMMIGRANT WOMAN'S HARD LUCK.

Held at Castle Garden as a Public Charge, and, as she Says, Insulted by an Attendant, Ingjerd Jönson, a young Swedish woman, arrived from Sweden on the steamer Iceland n July 9 with Mrs. Carl Jensen, her married sister. Ingjerd had with her a young child that she admitted was illegitimate. They were all on their way to Carl Jensen's home in Dassel. Minn., he having forwarded money to pay their passage to Dassel. The Emigration Commissioners allowed Mrs. Jensen to go to Dassel, but decided that Ingjerd and her child were likely to become public charges and ordered her to be returned on the steamer which were likely to become public charges and ordered her to be returned on the steamer which sails to-morrow. She had $15 in money in her possession, together with a ticket for Dassel.

Her brother-in-law, hearing of her detention, telegraphed to the Commissioners that he would support her, and inquired why she was not allowed to go to him. The Commissioners did not heed the message.

It isn't so certain that she will sail on Saturday however. Yesterday Secretary Fairchild, whose attention has been directed to the case, ordered the Commissioners to let her go on her way, unless they could satisfactorily prove to the Treasury Department that she was liable to become a pauper. On Wednesday she told a visitor at the Garden that an employee of the Garden had taken improper liberties with her, and tried to assault her. All the employees were drawn up in line before her yesterday, and she directly identified George Ivers, the son of the janitress, as the man. Ivers lives in the Garden and is married. He was called before the Board and denied the woman's charges.
The Board took a lot of testimony, and the adjourned the case for a week for consideration. When its attention was drawn to the fact that if its previous orders were carried out the complainant would be on her way back to Sweden before her case was decided, Commissioner Stephenson replied that she could apply to the courts if she wanted to, and get an injunction that would prevent any one sending her back. Ivers will be continued in his place pending the decision of the Board on the woman's charge.

DETROIT, July 28.-The chief interest in today's game between the New York and Detroit Clubs lies in the fact that New York was victorious. Gruber, Detroit's new pitcher, went in for the home club. He showed up well and his work was much applauded. The immortal Keefe held the sluggers down to ten hits. At the opening Richardson hit a hot one, which landed at Ward's feet, but he could not get it, and Brouthers warmed up Ward's fingers with another hot one, which was also too lively for the New York short stop. Then Rowe lined one out to centre field which struck Gore on the ankle and bounded off, so that both Brouthers and Richardson crossed the plate and Bowe landed on third. Thompson knocked one at

GRAND CIRCUIT TROTTING.

Great Sport on the Cleveland Track-A Sur prise in the Pacing Event.

CLEVELAND, July 28 .- Eight thousand perons attended the third day's trotting of the Cleveland Club meeting. The weather was in-tensely hot, and the track dusty but very fast. Fighting trots were again the order of the day, and about $75,000 worth of pools were sold on the three events, in but one of which the favorite won. That was Loretta F. in the $5,000 stake. The 2:18 pacing event required seven heats, the winner turning up in a country mare from western Pennsylvania, which had been overlooked. About $20,000 were lost on Argyle. In the free for all, Splan, with his on Argyle. In the free for all, Spian, with his new horse J. Sale of Thoroughbreds.

Col. S. D. Bruce offered a lot of fashionably bred yearlings, two-year-olds, and other thoroughbred stock belonging to Pierre Lorillord, D. D. Withers, and other owners, at auction, previous to the races yester-day at Monmouth Fark. There were few buyers pres-ent, and prices ran very low. Several of the two-year-olds were withdrawn. Most of the stock was bought by a lad, D. J. McCarthy, brother to Jockey McCarthy, McCarthy has a shrill, piping voice, and his bids, when in competition with grim veterans of the turf, made them look around to see who the bidder was. The stock sold, names of buyers, and prices are as follows: TRANLINGS.

The Orchards and Atlas clubs played for it, and the Orchards won by a score of 9 to 8. The athletic events were run on a turf track measuring eight lags to the mile. The ladies race, one-half mile, with five starters, excited most interest. Miss Anna Holly won easily. The only other finisher, Miss Lillian Leroy, fainted at the end of the race. Among the other events was a run of 100 yards for painters weighing over 200 pounds. W. B. Brown won, J. J. Conneil second.

Cricket at Prospect Park.

The Manhattan and the Trenton Cricket Clubs met at Prospect Park for the first time this season yesterday. The game was sharply contested. The wicket yesterday. The game was snarply contested. The wicket was a "bowler's wickat," the recent heavy rains making it play treacherously. The Manhattans batted first, and made 73, of which Tyers scored 46, not out. The Trentons could only get 36, and out of these Mart made 37, being bowied the last hall of the innings. DRY MONOPOLE DOWNS THE GIANTS IN THE NAVESINK HANDICAP.

Kingston Makes His Debut in the Dwyer Colors, and McLaughlin Makes a Close Finish on the Only Favorite That Won.

Six humming races were enjoyed at Monmouth Park yesterday by an immense throng of visitors, including well-known patrons of the turf from all sections of the country. A refreshing breeze came in from the sea, mak ing even those who lost on the races feel glad that they were there, and the losers were greatly in the majority. Dwyer Brothers' colt Kingston, who ran his first race in their colors, was the only favorite that won.

The Navesink Handicap was the great betting race of the day. Five cracks were in it. The aged wonder Barnum headed the starters at 5 to 2 against while the horses were entering to the post, Bonanza being second choice at 3 to 1. It was 4 to 1 against Dry Monopole, with Garrison up. Bundles of money went on the little racer. Garrison had said that he would win or kill the horse. The race was for money from end to end. It stirred the great crowd to its depths, wild shouting breaking out at critical points of the race. A bedlam broke loose at the finish. The five started in excellent shape, McLaughlin sending Bonanza along just clear of the squad in the opening half mile. Dry Monopole ran second at the start. Eurus second, lapped to the neck by Barnum, Dry Monopole next to the last. McLaughlin opened a gap of two lengths on the turn for the backstretch, Barnum running into second place before reaching the last mile post, and showing the way past it half a length in front of Bonanza, Garrison moved if into the post, and showing the way past it half a length in front of Bonanza, Garrison moved if into the far turn, where all closed up in the hottest of races, Garrison had seconed second place in the lead into the homestretch and ail accedenting a galiant struggle to the last half furiong, where Bonanza, and Burnum were drawn into the ruck that light when the issue came at the finish. Gartishin should be successed in front of Linden. Eurus coming third, two lengths bolind. A ripple of applause greeted McLaughlin when he made his first appearance on Kingston, the new body had been successed in front of Linden. Eurus coming third, two lengths bolind. A ripple of applause greeted McLaughlin when he made his first appearance on Kingston, the colt bought by the Dwyers to save Hanover in stakes for three-year-olds. The race was a free handleap at a mile and three-sixteenths, with Eole, Laggard, and Argo against the colt. Kingston was favorite in the heavy betting at 10 to 7 on. Church took the track with Argo, making an apparently run away race of it after the opening furiong. At the turn for the backstretch he had a lead of six longths, McLaughlin holding Kingston in the rear. Argo held the front by five lengths at the half mile post, McLaughlin having an apparently run away race of it after the opening Kingston was still third in the race, on the outside, McCarthy having agained the lead of the front by five lengths at the half mile post, McLaughlin having for one post to be betting and spining to with the first of the flag.

THURSDAY, July 28.

The market railled easily and materially today from yesterday's decline. The bears argued that the advance was due to the covering of their contracts. However, a good many of them did not cover, and, in fact, there seemed to be no disposition to do so at all until after a further attack had been made upon prices during the first hour. This final attack centred in Western Union and Reading, carrying both down about 1 % cent., but the resistance that developed throughout the active list deterred any further demonstrations of this sort. Ostensible support to the market is still lacking, and this constitutes its best feature, and it is a turned the current of speculation, perhaps only momentarily, is of a substantial character.

The average decline from the highest prices of last spring has been sufficiently great to warrant the assumption that concentrated holdings have been distributed and are now consisted chiefly of the satisfactory showing of earnings by the Pennsylvania, the Reading, and the Eric roads. Just before the close it was announced that the anthracite coal companies had agreed to advance the schedule prices of nearly all sizes 10 cents # ton on and after Aug. 1.

In the Unlisted Department there was a sharp recovery in Cotton Oil Trusts from 34 to 36. American Cable sold at 73%, Kingston and Pembroke Iron at $4$, and Sutro Tunnel at 37. The market closed strong at about the best prices.

The report from Detroit published this morning, to the effect that the Vanderbilt interests were likely to combine with Gov. Alger of Michigan to build a railroad from the Straits of Mackinaw to Duluth, is generally discredited by railroad people in a position to know about the matter. As a matter of fact, the Michigan Central and the Northern Pacific companies, which, it was reported, were fovorably disposed toward the schome, have little knowledge of it except as a scheme on paper, but both have entered into close traffic arrangements with the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic Company, which is nearly completed between the two points mentioned. The relations between the Michigan Central and the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic roads are particularly intimate. The Michigan Central and the Duluth and South Shore, which is spending an equal amount for the same purpose, President Ledvard of the Michigan Central is largely interested in the Duluth and South Shore road. As to the Northern Pacific, the Duluth and South Shore which is spending an equal amount for the same purpose. President Ledvard of the Michigan Central is largely interested in the Duluth and South Shore road. As to the Northern Pacific the Duluth and South Shore and the main line to a junction with the Northern Pacific is rapidly approaching completion.

Half an hour's delay, caused by fractions work all around, resulted in Me-Cartby getting away with a flying start on John Daily & Co.'s flilly Theora, pressed by Aura and Aniban, the others beginning to string out. It was Theora's maiden race. Encouraging reports had been circulated as to be string out. It was in a mood to confirm them. She held the van from start to flimb, Aura keeping at her flank to the run into the homestretch, and then gradually lapping her to the finish, Aura keeping at her flank to the run into the homestretch, and then gradually lapping her to the finish. A great field of thirteen started in the selling race, J. M. Paul's horse Monocrat was made the favorite. He came in last. Suitor set the pace, lapped by Phil Lee from the quarter post to the half mile post, where Phil Lee took the track and held it to the finish, winning a longth in front of Lancaster. Nobody bid for the winner.

Mara held Mentmore back in a safe position, while Jack, Soudan, Worth, and Leroy cut out the work by turns in a very exciting and well-contested steeplechase. Mentmore moved forward on the homestretch, and showing the word of the satisfactory showing by the Pennsylvania, the Reading, on Tuesday, July 27, Mars and friends are respectfully invited to attend the funeral from St. Raphae's Church.
